SUICIDE FOUND IN EL CERRITO HILLS

HANDIT KILLS SELF TO PREVENT CAPTURE! The alleged "wild and woolly" West has nothing on the supposedly effete East. Rather than submit to capture, a handit, identified as Frank Caragosa, blew out his brains when trapped at the top of a subway exit in New York City. The handit had held up a poolroom and shot the lessee of the building. Photo shows morbid crowds around the dead man's body.

EASTERN MAN SHOTS SELF LEAVES NOTE

With bullet wounds in the head and abdomen, the body of Edward J. Hesse, 31, formerly of Providence, R.I., was found on Grizzly Peak in the Berkeley Hills back of El Cerrito yesterday afternoon.
Hesse, who registered at the Oakland Y. M. C. A. last Wednesday, left a note dated February 21 with the clerk there requesting that Mrs. Eva J. Hesse of Providence be notified. No motive for the suicide has been found but Coroner Aubrey Wilson who took charge of the remains is conducting an investigation to ascertain the circumstances leading up to the death.
The body was found by Adam Carr of Monterey Avenue, Berkeley who with his little daughter was hiking over the hills when they

State Engineer Doubts Power To Fix Bridge Span Lengths

MARTINEZ, Feb. 25. — With State Engineer Edward C. Hyatt still doubtful of his authority to pass on the length of the span in the $15,000,000 bridge that Roy O. Long of Berkeley proposes to unite Marin and Contra Costa counties, the board of supervisors Monday will be asked to order another continuance of action on certification of plans to the state official, Attorney A. F. Bray, one of counsel for Long, announced today.
Bray's statement was made following a conference with the state engineer at Sacramento yesterday. Hyatt informed Bray that Attorney General U. S. Webb has advised him that the bridge act of 1881 does not authorize or direct the state engineer to pass on the length of spans that might be embraced in a San Francisco bay bridge and Hyatt doubts his authority to pass on the Long structure, to be located at the northern bay limits. The law, specifically directs that the state engineer shall approve span lengths in bridges of the Carquinez strait area but Hyatt has indicated that in the absence of a direct opinion from the state attorney general that he has authority to pass on Long's bridge he will not do so. Hyatt has promised to definitely inform Long next week of the action he will take.
If the state engineer does not pass on the span lengths Long's bridge plans will be placed immediately before the War Department with a request for their approval.
It is anticipated that when application for a War Department permit is presented shipping interests that protested span lengths at the franchise hearing before the supervisors will resume their plea before the government for longer spans that contemplated.

Giannini Gains Control Of Oldest Bank In New York City

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Amadeo T. Giannini, colossus of the financial world on the Pacific Coast, invaded Wall Street today by gaining possession of the Bank of America one of New York's oldest institutions.
Giannini, son of an Italian immigrant, fominate banking interests that include the Bank of Italy of California, which he founded and the nationally known Bancitaly corporation, a holding company, valued at $500,000,000.
It was inevitable that Giannini should come to Wall Street his friends say. The financial genius a comparatively young man had outgrown the dollar market in California. The Italian who had built up billion dollar banking houses only to turn them over to clerks who worked for him yearned for bigger game than the west afforded.
Edward C. DeLaford, president and principal stockholder in the Bank of America, is expected to remain under the Giannini regime. Giannini made an attractive bid for the control of the Manufacturers Trust company, but Nathan S. Jonas, president of that institution, made a last minute decision not to sell.
Giannini also controls the Bowery and East River National Bank but that house is his own creation through the Bancitaly corporation and did not signify his acceptance as an integral part of Wall Street's own 400.

Property Suit Lost By Cattle Company

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 25. — The third District Court of Appeal today affirmed a recent Contra Costa county trial court judgment refusing the petition of Thomas R. Hanna and Wanda Hanna for return of a subdivision lot near Crockett on which concrete terminal works of the Carquinez Straits toll bridge are located. In suing the American Toll Bridge Company and others, the Hannas contended they originally sold the lot with the understanding that it should revert to them if any structure other than a dwelling and appurtenances were erected on it prior to 1936. The court pointed out that these restrictions were not applied to other lots sold in the same district.

BUY REAL ESTATE IN RICHMOND

There is the great preventative of suffering.

There is no greater opportunity in the state of California for tremendous increased values in real estate and for people to practice thrift than in Richmond.

The foregoing statements are not an advertisement for realtors, but are cold facts, and are prompted by statistics that are not questioned.

The development of Richmond in the two periods from 1910 to 1927 and from 1920 to 1927 overshadow other cities in the state to such a vast extent that it is only fit and proper to refer to this city as "Marvelous Richmond."

Richmond is now the ninth city in size of population in the state of California, north of the Tehachapi, and the next ten years will very likely place it in the fourth place.

In the period between 1910 and 1927

CITY	U. S. Census 1910	Dec. 1927 Estimated	Per Cent Increase
1 Richmond	6,280	35,000	457 Pct.

Gospel Services Well Attended

The practical gospel services conducted at Grace Lutheran church during the past week by Dr. George H. Hillerman of Berkeley, general superintendent of American missions, have been a source of inspiration to many who have attended them. Dr. Hillerman will address the Sunday School today and will deliver a sermon at 11 o'clock, his topic being, "The Fact of Divine Co-operation." His evening theme at 7 o'clock will be "The Fact of Security."

Special music for the morning will be provided by Mrs. W. H. Page, who will sing "Consider the Lilies," by R. Topliff, and an anthem, "In Thy Mysterious Presence, Kneeling." Two special songs by the choir, "Blessed Hour of Prayer" and "Hide Me," will be sung in the evening.

Tax Collector To Begin Tomorrow

John A. Miller, deputy county income tax collector, will leave the city tomorrow on his annual round of tax collection. When he returns to the city March 9, he will be located at the American Trust company on the West Side. Shortly after his arrival here he will start his collections in the district of Richmond.

MARRIAGE APPLICATION

MARTINEZ, Feb. 25.—Inez Romero, 21, Bakersfield, and Guadalupe Pantoja, 18, Richmond, have filed their intentions to wed, at the county court house here.

the percentage of growth of Richmond was 457, and in the period between 1920 and 1927, a shorter term, its percentage of increase was 107. These percentages top any other California city.

Statistical tables relating to population and shipments show that Richmond will become one of the outstanding cities in California.

According to U. S. Engineers report, in 1927 over 39,000,000 tons of commerce was handled on San Francisco bay and of this amount over 21,000,000 tons originated in Richmond and contributing districts. Remarkable that nearly 60 per cent of the tonnage originated here.

No more illuminating set of figures as to the history of a city, what it has accomplished in the past, and what its possibilities for the future are, have ever been compiled, than are contained in the appended table.

EL CERRITO MAN FINED

Possession of bush robins cost C. Mederos of El Cerrito, $50 when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Standish.

EL CERRITO TO HEAR ALLEGED BRIBE ATTEMPT

The El Cerrito council meeting to-morrow night will undoubtedly be the magnet for a capacity crowd for at that time Councilman Phil A. Lee will tell all the facts about the receipt of $975, that a bribe offer was intended as a lighting contract that was on the table last year. Since the report of the receipt last Tuesday morning, handed exclusively in the RECORD-HERALD things have been stirring in the county line town, many secret meetings have been held, and almost anything is liable to happen at the Monday night meeting.
District Attorney A. H. Thinning and his assistants have been making a quiet investigation this week, and undoubtedly his office will be represented at the session.
Besides the details in connection with the alleged lighting contract, it is possible that pointed questions may be asked concerning the purchase of office engines and the letting of street improvement contracts.
It is understood a number of attorneys have been consulted this week, and the current talk is that there will be quite an array of legal talent at the meeting.
In connection with a statement that was made in Wednesday's RECORD-HERALD by city engineer Ross L. Calfee, the following reply was made public last evening by attorney W. F. Huber of El Cerrito:

HUBER'S STATEMENT

El Cerrito, California, Feb. 25th, 1928.
"Editor Record-Herald:
"The article in your Wednesday issue relating to bribe or reward offer to a City Trustee in El Cerrito has just come to my notice. The same contains a statement by Ross L. Calfee, City Engineer of El Cerrito, which mentions my name. Answering same I will say that my protest to the City Council of El Cerrito and to the State Highway Commission was based on the grounds that the data on plans for the work was false and showed that the State and the property owners were being charged for payment that already existed and was allowed.
"The City Council arbitrarily overruled my protest and the Highway Commission did not reply responsive to my protest that the State was being asked to pay for work already done and falsely alleged in the plans to be non-existent.
"The character of the street work done in El Cerrito in recent years is an imposition and a detriment to the town. We have 60 foot streets, 'improved' with 30 foot roadways where the sidewalk space is not even graded. I have pointed out to the Council and the engineer that such work and expense is useless so far as encouraging home-building and improving the town is concerned.
"When it was proposed to improve the streets (Continued on Page Eight)

GET A GLIDER!

Germany has set a spectacular example in training aviators that should be an inspiration to every live American boy.

Germany's system is not to purchase expensive planes for all aspiring youths, but let them start out for themselves by building and operating motorless gliders.

ASTONISHING records of height and distance have been made with these machines.

They are valuable in helping boys to learn the rudiments of flying under the safest possible conditions.

Their operators must learn the art of perfect balance before they can possibly fly high enough to glide themselves.

In landing, the little machines can come down much more safely than any airplane, weighted as the latter is with heavy engine and gasoline and oil supplies.

It was from experimenting with such devices that the Wright brothers were able to gain the experience and confidence that backed the building of their first history-making airplane.

Any boy or girl who is anxious to fly should consider this—and glide.

A PATHETIC STORY

That was a pathetic story of the young dancer who plunged up to her ankles in a Central Park lake in New York in a made dive for the front page.

Unfortunately for humanity, she achieved her object.

This brought to light the doleful fact that the young woman had a portrait of Vincent Lopez in her possession.

Could anything more tragic be imagined! It evidently bowed the heart of the great impresario of jazz with unextinguishable woe.

Tears trickled down his manly cheeks as he sadly ordered the staff of his casa to dust off the chairs and to polish up the tables for the anticipated rush of patrons who would come to see him in the depths of his depression.

"I die," were the words of Mlle. Simone Rose-ray, the fair danseuse, as she took her unfatal plunge—"I die for love!"

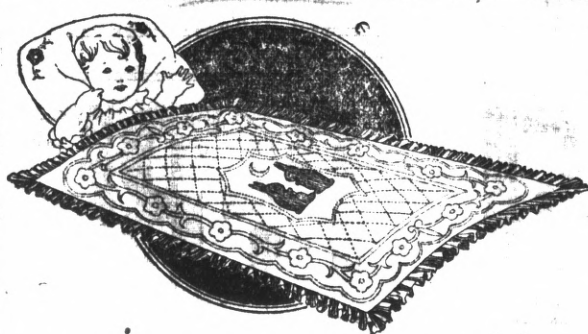

Tough luck, mademoiselle, and also senior. You must both live for love—for love of publicity.

Don't get discouraged every time the cold and wintry winds whistle around the corner of the house. Remember the baseball teams will be starting the spring training within six weeks now.

One of the most aggravating things we know of on a cold morning is a motor which does not choose to run.

The most pathetic thing we know of is a boyish bob on a grandmotherish head.

FOR 1928 BABY BUNTING

Up-to-date Baby Buntings are not necessarily wrapped in rabbit skins. A quilted crib cover like the one shown here, with two alert pink or blue bunnies standing guard on it, answers the purpose just as well. The Vogue for quilted things is particularly keen right now only instead of the old, laborious quilting which required a frame to work on and the finest of fine stitches, present-day quilting has been much simplified. The design shown can be worked in a comparatively short time or an even simpler pattern can be selected.

The materials required for making this attractive baby's quilt are two flour bags, bought from your baker for a few cents, three-quarters of a yard of wool batting, half a yard of plain gingham, pink or blue, and mercerized embroidery, twice to match. Ordinary sheet wadding will do, but the kind that comes already quilted to cheese cloth will be easier to work on and will launder well. To remove the stamping, cover the laked spots with lard or soak them in kerosene overnight. Then wash the bag out in lukewarm water.

The bunnies are first cut out of the gingham and applied to the stamped cloth. The eyes are embroidered in black. Then the wadding is pinned or basted to the top and the quilting is begun, always working from the inside outwards. A fairly short running stitch is used, going all the way through the wool sheeting. When the quilting is done, use the second flour bag to make the back and bind all the edges with a two-inch fold of the gingham.

A small baby pillow to match, only worked without the wool lining, is an attractive addition and can be made out of the strips left over from cutting out the crib cover.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

I wonder how many of my readers are acquainted with the true nature of adenoids? Most people think of them as some strange growth which, unfortunately, decided to develop in their own or their children's noses and which must be cut out with the surgeon's knife. It never seems to occur to them to wonder why the adenoids started to grow or whether they serve any useful purpose.

Adenoids is merely the term given to an overgrowth of the normal adenoid tissue in the nasopharynx. Adenoid means resembling a gland, and this tissue, since it enlarges when there is need for extra elimination evidently has a work to do associated with that of the lymph glands, which help to purify the lymph. In fact, when adenoids are present there is usually some swelling of the lymph glands, the so-called swollen glands. Adenoid tissue is therefore, to some extent, at least, eliminating tissue. The overgrowth is produced when more tissue is required for extra elimination. To remove this tissue without removing the causes of the enlargement will only throw more work on other organs and cause them trouble.

Where breathing is so seriously interfered with as to make quick relief advisable the operation may be permitted, but natural methods should be used first to purify the system and remove the causes. After all, the body produced the overgrowth to take care of definite causes, and it can also reduce the overgrowth when these causes are removed.

I am always day-dreaming and cannot seem to get my mind on anything. I feel fairly good, but do not have much pep. Please advise. —MISS V. W.

Day-dreaming when properly controlled may be used to great advantage in furthering health, happiness and success. If the day-dreaming controls you, however, it is not good. Probably your expression of nervous energy is inhibited and your intellectual thinking powers dulled by toxic matter. When the system has been properly cleansed through fasting and general right habits of living you will have more energy and will be more interested in the ordinary things of life and will be better able to concentrate upon whatever business is at hand.

I am getting bald at the front of my head. Have always worn my hair brushed straight back. Do you think a change of style, such as parting it, would be of any value? —FRANK H.

A change of the style of hair dressing does sometimes make a difference. Continual backward brushing of the hair puts a lot of strain on the hair roots in the front of the head and may be one factor in producing the baldness in this locality. When brushing the hair it is well to first brush it in all directions before finally placing it in the desired position. Of course, for best results it will be necessary to give attention to diet, scalp massage and all general health building measures.

I have stones in the bladder. Have passed one. Is a cure possible without an operation? —F. A. C.

An operation will never cure you, as it does not remove the cause. A few cases may find an operation necessary to remove the present stones, but unless natural methods are used to remove the causes, the stones will recur. In most cases if the natural measures are used first the operation will be avoided. The usual plan of treatment includes a fast, with distilled water and daily enemas for about a week, together with alternate hot and cold sitz baths.

Do you advise the use of coffee while fasting? Some medical doctors who believe in fasting say that the patient should take coffee to keep up the strength. —J. H.

If sugar and cream are used in the coffee, some energy-producing elements would be obtained, but then one would not be fasting. If the coffee is taken black, it is nothing but artificial stimulant which wastes the strength instead of keeping it up. Coffee should never be used whether fasting or eating. When fasting, nothing but water is taken. Even fruit juices change the fast to a fruit diet.

HOMESPUN YARN

To keep your electric waffle iron bright and clean, use ordinary baking soda and apply it dry.

Brown sugar is preferred by most cooks for fruit cake or any dark cake.

When oranges are expensive or difficult to obtain, canned tomato juice may be substituted for the baby's orange juice.

Readers who desire private answers should inclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of typing, etc. Because of space limitations it is not possible to print answers to all letters received, and readers who wish an early reply should take advantage of this special service. On account of the large quantity of mail coming to this department, about ten days should be allowed for a reply. Write to Patricia Lee, care of this paper.

Dear Patricia Lee:

I have been married fifteen months, and seem to be very unhappy. Since we were married we have been having many quarrels over things which are really nothing. My husband is of quite a different nature than I. This causes quarrels, during which he does not talk to me for a week, then makes up, and the following day another quarrel starts. I try my best to avoid them, but it seems to be no use. There are times he does not give me money to live, and other times he just gives me a few dollars for food. The rest he keeps. I feel so miserable on account of these quarrels, as I love him dearly. We have a nice home, but no children. I thought of leaving him and the only thing that kept me back was the thought of breaking up my home. I am 26 and my husband is 26. Will you please tell me what to do? —UNHAPPY.

My Dear—

There are times when I feel that the "lords of creation" need a good shaking, and a good shaking up. And other times when I feel like calling after them as a small boy does: "Why don't you pick somebody your size?" Your husband has no right to fly into a rage over the least little thing that goes wrong. This isn't a perfect world and there are doubtless many things other people do, too, that annoy him. If he goes around looking for petty grievances it is easy enough to find them. But I don't think he refuses to speak to the boss for a week at a time! He is simply taking advantage of the fact that you love him, that you are his wife, and that you depend on him for money. It is one of the meanest and most cowardly tricks a man can play. Of course you must do your part to try to change him, my dear. Don't argue. Try to see the humorous side of the question and cultivate a little tolerance, both of you. Talk over the money question and ask him for a definite amount each week. Then, perhaps, you can avoid bringing up this disturbing word so often. You are just beginning, but unless you and your husband get the spirit of comradeship, you will never reach the end of the road together.

Jack and Mary discuss the show between rehearsals.

"Jack! Snap out of it! You're going to be the hit of the show. You're just a bit tired, now, that's all that's the matter with you. Why, we're all going to be so proud of you." She reached across the table and patted his hand.

"No, there'll be some people who won't," he shook his head sadly, but he clung to the girl's hand as though he never wanted to let it go.

"You mean your family? You've never spoken of them, so I—I rather imagined you had quarreled."

"Yes, you see they wanted me to be something entirely different. To them the stage is just the same as jail. I'm an only son, and—well, they don't think I'll ever amount to anything."

"My dear boy, that's an old, old story. Don't you know that there are millions of people who feel that same way about the theatre. And

"Come on, everybody," he was shouting. "Mary—Jack, we've got to run through this scene before dress rehearsal. I think we'll make some changes. No chorus, only the principals. This is our last chance, so get it right!"

The little group took their places, some already in costume, others still in their street clothes.

"Come on, Gene, take it from 'Gus, where've you been.' Lee directed the stage manager-detective.

"Gus, where've you been?" began the detective, picking up his line.

"Boy, I been following that swallow, an' the last I seen of it, it was headin' due south." Jack took his cue.

"But swallows don't go south this time of year," Carter stepped forward on his line.

"Heh! They suddenly does when this here black boy's uppin' the bottle," Jack answered.

"Now, that's the cue for my 'Cotton Gin' number, Mr. Lee. Do you want me to take it without the chorus?" Carter asked.

"No, that's one reason I wanted to run over this scene," Lee began. "I've been thinking about it, and I've decided that Jack had better do that number. It's Southern stuff and a blackface make up its

"But, Mr. Lee," Carter objected, his professional pride asserting itself, "that's where I do my specialty. It's the best number I have."

"Well, Mr. Lee, I've got enough numbers now," Jack interrupted nervously, and Carter's had all the rehearsals on it.

"That's all right. You know the song. You can carry another number all right. Now, I want it done like this," Lee was hurrying along the scene without further ado.

"Stand back, all of you. Jack, you're down front here. The principals moved towards the rear of the stage and Jack took his position in front of the footlights beside Lee.

"This is a big number," he spoke quietly to Jack. "I want to get everything out of it that's in it. You can do it. That's why I'm giving you this chance. You're not nervous about it, are you?"

"No-o-o," Jack confessed.

"All right, then. I'm going to have nothing downstage here but the spot on you. It will be your number if you carry it through the way you're doing this other stuff. You don't need to take it now, but you understand what I want?"

"Yes, I see, Mr. Lee."

"Jack, that's going to be wonderful," Mary watching from the wings, now moved up beside Jack, as Lee began giving directions to the others. "It looks very much as though it's going to be your show. Harry's giving you everything."

"I know it, Mary, and it almost gets me scared," Jack admitted. "I swear, I lay awake having nightmares about it. Suppose I don't get over it."

"No fear, Jack," Mary laughed, and slipped her hand inside Jack's. "You're going to be the whole show. Harry knows what he's doing."

Yet right at that moment it was not his own feelings that Jack was considering. He was nervous, true, but with the nervousness that is peculiar to almost every actor as an opening night.

BEBE DANIELS Comedy With Menjou Tops Bill Today At The California

The cast of "Feel My Pulse" which will be at the California Theatre today, Bebe Daniels' latest starring vehicle for Paramount in made up of some of Hollywood's best known characters. This farce comedy has more than enough room for the characters in which they may do their stuff, for it is full of fast and comic sequences.

Bebe is the daughter of a very wealthy man whose hobby is health. His daughter having inherited this paternal desire, is always on the look-out for that ray of health which will make of her the most robust of women. She is always feeling ill and her uncle in order to cure her sends her to a private sanitarium. This sanitarium is used by a group of bootleggers as their headquarters. Merry mix-ups and a hilarious situation are the results.

The dashing comedienne's leading man, as in "She's A Sheik," again will be Richard Arlen, who in the short period of one year's has leaped to the front as one of the most popular leading men on the Paramount slide. Arlen has just completed one of the leading roles in "Under The Tonto Rim." In "Feel My Pulse" he is cast as a young novelist who has taken up with a gang of run-runners.

William Powell, versatile character actor, will be seen in the role of "heavy," on this occasion the leader of the run-runners. One of the finest parts in the production has been assigned to Charles Sellon, famous for his portrayals of the fluttering Englishman. "Feel My Pulse" will see him as a nervous caretaker.

Other players who have important roles are Helene Conklin and Melbourne MacDowell. "Feel My Pulse" was directed by Gregory La Cava from the original story by Howard Rogers. Other features include "Fully Equipped," a comedy scream; current news events; and five big acts of West Coast Theatre vaudeville.

villain; Romaine Fielding, Otis Harlan and Joseph Bennett, all in important roles.

NORMA SHEARER will be seen in "THE LATEST FROM PARIS," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production to be shown here this week at the California Theatre. Norma has the role of a traveling saleswoman.

"LATEST FROM PARIS" COMES TO CALIFORNIA

Twenty years ago when women first dared to invade man's world by going into business or taking up one of the professions which previously had been regarded as man's field of endeavor, she nearly always adopted mannish attire.

At least she did if she came anywhere near being successful! Suits, with coats and vests tailored along masculine lines, stiff collars, starched shirtwaists, mannish hats and heavy shoes with broad toes and thick soles, were thought to be quite the thing for a woman invader of man's domain.

Today successful business and professional women have the good taste and common sense to dress as their sisters who are more content with their lot as housewives.

"It never pays for a woman to discard her femininity," says Norma Shearer who has the role of a traveling saleswoman in her new starring vehicle "The Latest from Paris," to be shown at the California theatre Wednesday and Thursday. "The modern business woman is now distinctly feminine, except in such isolated instances where the same woman would adopt mannish attire even if she were not working in what was once supposed to be man's own particular sphere. She may wear tailored suits and hats but she still regards her femininity as an asset and clings to it."

"Most of the professional and business women now wear, while working, the same sort of wardrobe any woman would wear on the street or for travel. She wears sports clothes if the season permits, wears as dainty shoes as any other woman and remains womanly despite her association to a great degree with the male sex."

"The Latest from Paris" was directed by Sam Wood, from an original screen play by A. P. Younger. Ralph Forbes has the leading male role and the supporting cast includes many well known screen names.

A SCENE FROM "THE COHENS AND KELLYS IN PARIS," a sequel to the sensation, which begins a two-day run at the California Theatre next Friday. The same cast will appear in the film.

STAR PLAYERS SEEN IN CAST OF OZARK FILM

There is a call for "new faces in the films," and also a demand for the familiar ones.

It happens that those who see First National's big film production of the Harold Bell Wright novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills" coming to the California Theatre tomorrow will have their wish, whether it is for the old or the new. Purely by chance, half of the large cast are newcomers and the other half veterans.

Charles R. Rogers, who produced the film for First National pictures, and Albert Rogell, who directed it, made their cast selections with just two things in mind, fitness to type of the story characters and acting ability. But in doing so they secured the following groups of players.

Veterans: Alice B. Francis, in the title role; Matthew Betz, the leader of the run-runners.

Other players who have important roles are Helene Conklin and Melbourne MacDowell.

"Feel My Pulse" was directed by Gregory La Cava from the original story by Howard Rogers.

Other features include "Fully Equipped," a comedy scream; current news events; and five big acts of West Coast Theatre vaudeville.

PRODUCTION OF CHEVROLETS ON HUGE INCREASE

Added impetus was given the swift pace set for 1928 by the Chevrolet Motor Company with the announcement by W. S. Knudsen, President and General Manager, that the four millionth Chevrolet unit rolled off the assembly lines of the Flint, Michigan, plant on January 11.

The record model—a 1928 coach—was built only 363 days after the three millionth car had been turned out at the same factory.

This brief interval between production of the two epoch making cars reveals the tremendous volume of the company the past year—when it was the world's largest automobile manufacturer—and shows the rapidity with which new cars are now being built to supply dealers in all parts of the world with an adequate number for prompt delivery.

Production for the year just ended exceeded the program of a million units by 1,800 cars and accelerated production this January over January a year ago, necessitated by the splendid reception accorded the new line, made possible the building of the four millionth car two days less than a year after the three millionth unit had been produced.

Various dates in the life of the Chevrolet Motor Company on which the millionth car mark has been passed furnish a graphic picture of the rapid strides made by the company to its position of leadership in the industry.

Nearly twelve years elapsed after its organization—on November 3, 1911—before the one millionth car was built. That record day was February 27, 1923.

There followed an interval of two years and five months before, on July 20, 1925, the two millionth car was produced. Between the two and three millionth cars was a period of a year and six months, the three millionth unit having been built on January 13, 1927, while from that date to the building of the four millionth unit was 363 days.

Like the three millionth car, the four millionth one was equipped with a coach body. The one and

Chevrolet Party in the Redwoods

Among the gigantic trees that form the mighty redwood groves of California there is perennial lure for the motorist. Here is a party in a new model Chevrolet on the Redwood Highway that follows the Northern coast of California and leads to Oregon. Winter has its particular attraction to the tourist and at this season of the year the redwoods may be visited without difficulty, owing to the splendid condition of the roads that wind their way through the state redwood domain.

two millionth models both were touring types. Little ceremony attended the production of the four millionth car. Mr. Knudsen, C. F. Barth, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, and C. E. Wetherald, Flint plant manager, inspected it,

Federal Appropriations Sought For State Roads

Additional Federal appropriations for the building of highways and trails within or adjacent to national forests in California are being sought by the California State Automobile Association.

The Board of Directors of the motorists' organization has endorsed the proposal before Congress to increase the Federal appropriation for national forests from $7,500,000 to $12,500,000 a year in order to speed up road construction in these areas, according to announcement today by John R. Graham of Merced, member of the Association Forestry Committee.

"California is improving state and county roads and highways in national parks much faster than the government is doing corresponding work in national forests," said Graham. "Large areas of national forest lands are woefully neglected, the timber subject to the ravages of fire and dry-rot because of inaccessibility."

"From every point of view—recreational, agricultural, marketing of timber, prevention of fire loss, etc.—these areas are worthy of much more liberal consideration than they have received in the past."

"At the present rate of progress it will take nearly 550 years to complete this task. Within a fifth of that time we will have had our state highway system completed in its entirety and other roads improved to the extent that the comparison will be more pronounced than ever."

"We have very close to ten thousand miles of roads, or, perhaps I would be safer in saying so-called roads, in the National Forests here in California alone. The necessity for their improvement is not only for the protection and benefit of the Forest areas but is essential for our own commerce. The shape and location of these Forest areas is generally of such a nature that they lie between our highly developed and populous regions, with a result that intercommunication between our people is made difficult with a lack of proper improvements."

Working Condition Told By Labor

Richmond delegates to the Contra Costa County Building Trades Council went to Martinez to attend the monthly convention of the council, which was held in Martinez for the first time since the meeting there a year ago. F. A. Marvin, L. G. Eldridge, M. O. Hague, Louis Frates, Paul Randall and E. A. Argelsinger were the delegates who attended from this city.

A uniform wage scale and closer co-operation between organized labor and legitimate home contractors were the main topics of discussion.

Perfection of plans to cooperate with conditions as they now exist was the purpose of the discussion. It has been reported that contractors about the bay region are willing to take advantage of unemployment conditions here and help depress working conditions. These contractors in their bidding often embarrass the legitimate contractors, who recognize the value of good workmanship, according to statements made at the meeting.

At the State Building Trades Council meeting to be held in Berkeley March 19, a full delegation from the Contra Costa county council and Richmond will be in attendance.

148 NEW BUICKS ORDERED BY HERTZ DRIVE-IT-YOURSELF CORP. FOR CALIFORNIA AND OREGON

One of the largest single orders for passenger motor cars ever given by one purchaser, other than an automobile dealer, was that placed recently by the Hertz Drive-It-Yourself Corporation with the Howard Automobile Company, Buick distributors, calling for delivery of 148 new Buick cars at a purchase price of approximately $225,000, according to C. C. Kratzer, local Buick dealer.

The acquisition of this new equipment, which is to be added to that of the Hertz rental stations at San Francisco, Los Angeles and Portland, marks the final step in the 1928 Hertz program, calling for a substantial increase in its large Buick fleet in California and Oregon, according to Neal Begley, president and general manager of the rental company's Pacific Coast operations.

The purchase was actuated, Begley explained, following a survey made on the coast by himself and C. W. Litsey, of Chicago vice president and general manager of the corporation. This survey, which included the entire Pacific Zone, showed a decided preference among Hertz customers for Buick. Begley stated, "The commanding position Buick occupies among all makes of cars certainly reflects itself in our patrons' choice."

"Great has been the demand that we find it necessary to add a greater number of them at this time than we originally anticipated, and present plans call for still further additions during the year."

The Hertz Corporation, which controls the operation of more than 300 automobile stations in the United States and Canada, made its first Buick purchase little more than a year ago. Today there are more than 2,000 Buicks in their service, distributed among the various stations now operating throughout North America. Other orders of this make of car will be made from time to time and it is expected that several hundred will be added during the year, according to officials of the company.

"Buick made an immediate hit with our customers," Begley stated. "As soon as the public learned that Buicks were available at our stations, the range of out business widened rapidly. Salesmen, family parties, and business houses developed the habit of renting the various Buick models, and today there is more calls for this make of car than for any other automobile we operate. At one time we had practically all of the better known makes in our service."

"We use a variety of Buick body types or models and find and shortly afterward it went with the millions of others produced to date to the loading docks for prompt shipment.

FEDERAL AID FOR HIGHWAYS HELD CERTAIN

Federal aid to state highway construction has resulted in the expenditure of $19,099,020 of national government funds on road-building in California since this policy was enacted into law. The value of Federal aid to the various states, particularly in the West, was stressed by spokesmen for organized motorism in presenting pleas to Congress that this program be continued.

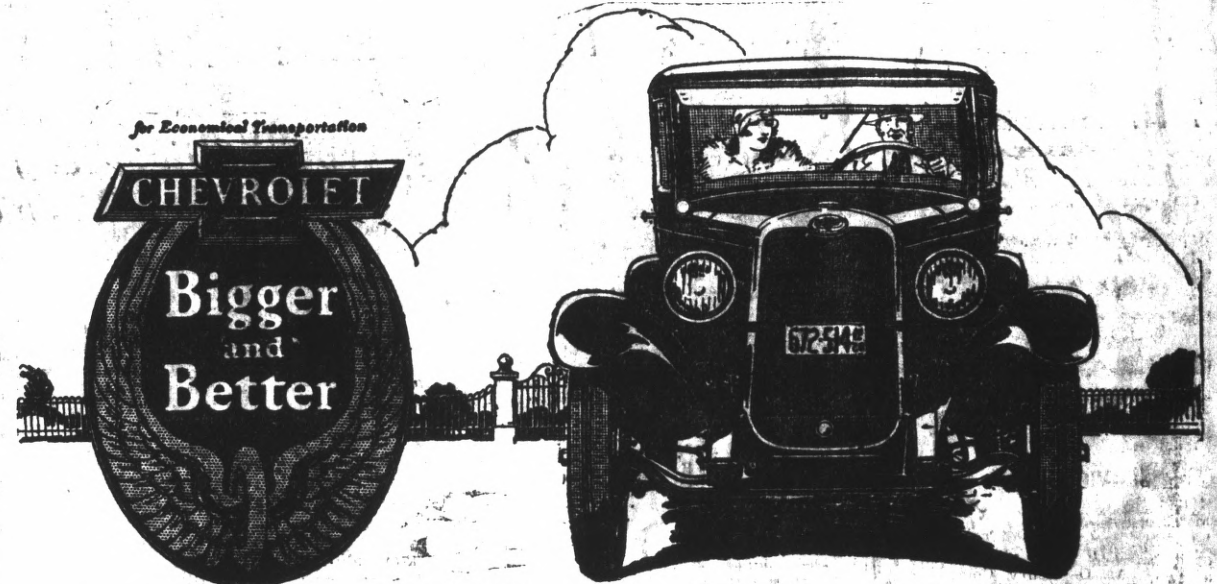

There is a very definite sentiment in the ranks of federal officialdom to look upon Federal Aid as a permanent policy of the national government, according to C. C. Cottrell, manager of the Highways Bureau of the California State Automobile Association, who has just returned from Washington, D. C.

"The sentiment in the national capital is overwhelmingly in favor of continuation of Federal Aid on an undiminished basis," said Cottrell, "and organized motorism is asking that the present rate of $75,000,000 a year appropriation be continued if it is not possible to increase this sum."

"The California State Automobile Association in the West and the American Automobile Association on a nation-wide basis have sponsored and supported the Federal Aid program from the beginning."

Cottrell appeared before the House Roads Committee to voice the recommendations of organized motorism of the West for acceleration and expansion of the Federal government's road-building program in the West. The threefold program urged on the committee by the Automobile Association representative consisted of: continuation of Federal Aid on an undiminished basis; not greater scale; increased appropriations for roads in national forest areas, and more liberal use of Federal Aid funds in public land states.

Cottrell reported that continued Federal Aid appropriations by the present Congress are virtually assured.

NEW FEATURES OF OAKLANDS WIN PATRONS

Among other important changes on the engine of the Oakland All-American Six, according to J. P. Strom, Oakland-Pontiac Richmond dealer, is the adoption of the G-M-R cylinder head and the replacement of the conventional vacuum tank with a gasoline pump, two late developments both of which were pioneered successfully on the Oakland All-American Six.

The new G-M-R cylinder head (developed by General Motors Research engineers) is of the same type that eliminates spark knock and roughness in the Oakland All-American Six. It gives an impulse to the car comparable only to the smoothness of the steam engine and has also enabled the Pontiac compression ratio to be raised to 4.5 to 1. This is chiefly responsible for the increased power while retaining the same 185 cubic-inch cylinder displacement which remains larger than the displacement of any six cylinder car under $1,000.

The gasoline pump, operated from the camshaft, assures a proper supply of filtered fuel at all speeds.

A combination pressure and suction type of crankcase ventilator has been added, which prevents fumes from entering the body compartment, and decreases dilution of the engine oil by condensed water vapor, the vapor being discharged underneath the car before it has reached the condensation point.

The new clutch is very similar to that of the Oakland All-American Six, but even greater than the clutch on the previous Pontiac Sixes, requiring only a light pressure of the foot pedal, a feature especially attractive to women drivers. A new steering gear design of higher ratio and with burnished bronze bearings together with a new 17-inch wheel carrying finger grips on the inside of the rim has measurably improved steering ease, another factor of importance to women drivers.

Although the New Series Pontiac Six retains its former wheelbase of 110 inches for ease of handling and parking, the car has the appearance of being considerably larger and more sturdy than its predecessor. This effect is achieved principally through the larger, deeper radiator, surmounted by its new Indian head radiator a demand for all of them. Salesmen usually prefer coupes and roadsters because of the ample luggage space for the carrying of grips and sample cases. Real estate firms use the sedans to carry the prospective customers on inspection trips while Buicks of all models are in demand for theatre parties and other evening engagements which require a car of distinguished appearance as well as outstanding performance.

"Like our customers, we are delighted with the new 1928 Buick models. Their beauty, style and riding comfort insure a constant demand, which is gratifying to us as it must be to the Howard Automobile Company and the Buick Motor Company.

"It has been doubly gratifying to us to change our Buick fleet, for Buick has proved an exceptional car from our viewpoint as owners and operators. Its ease of control makes it a safe car to operate, and minimizes operating costs. It is by far the most economical of any car of its size we have operated and it is absolutely reliable in every way.

Series of Sermons At Community M. E.

A man's relation to God will be discussed in a series of sermons to be preached by Rev. W. Forman, pastor of the Community Methodist Church at Twenty-first street and Roosevelt avenue.

The first of the series will be given Sunday morning, the subject being: "Man's Place in God's World," and the rest of the series as follows: March 4, "Man's Time in God's World"; March 11, "Man's Talents in God's World"; March 18, "Man's Money in God's World"; and March 25, "Will a Man Rob God of These?"

In the sermons will be thought provoking questions and the public has been invited to hear the speaker.

cap. This year the radiator and the new raised panel on top of the hood are nearly two inches higher than in 1927. Full crown fenders with hood stills completely covering the front of the frame give distinction to the front of the car.

Local Boy Tells Of Meeting Deric In Mesa Verde Park

Say, fellows, did you see about Deric and David and their books in the RECORD-HERALD last week?

Well, what do you think, there's a boy in Richmond who met Deric last summer down at Mesa Verde National Park, and his name begins with D just like David's and Deric's! But I can't tell you what his name is because they don't tell people's names at the library, but Miss Gould in the Boy's and Girl's library told me about him.

And Deric told him about David, and showed him the flints and guns he'd dug up out of the Indian village and took him to see some of the caves he knows about down there.

"And I am going to read all of the David and Deric books, said this Richmond boy 'because I like to read about things that boys do; and then I think I'll take home some books on drawings, you know a boy made those pictures for David's book about Earlin Land, and they have some well drawing books at the library. There's one called 'Drawing Made Easy' and another one called 'Drawing the Easy Way.' and they both show how you can draw most anything by just beginning with a circle or a square or something easy like that. Yes, I think I'll learn to draw and then I'll make some sketches when I'm on my vacation this summer."

"Oh, yes, Miss Gould told me that David and his father are going to invite two American Boy Scouts to go with 'em for a month's 'safari' in Africa this summer. I guess a safari is a kind of a tramping trip, anyway. I hope those boys write a book about it."

"I like true books about far off places like David goes to, don't you? It's almost as good as going there yourself. I like that book about Toto, the funny little chimpanzee, and the one about that brave pigeon, called 'Akeley' and the one by Mr. Akeley who went Africa to get animals for some museum, and a whole lot of others that are real. Well, so long. I must be going."

Bloodstained Clothes Found Here Remain Mystery To Officers

Mystery surrounding the finding of the bundle of bloody clothes in a box car in the Santa Fe yards is still unsolved by the Richmond police, according to an announcement by Chief of Police Dan Cox.

Sheriff George W. Lyle of Santa Clara county, who is working with the Richmond police, has reported that no clues have been found by his office. The paper in which the clothes were wrapped came from a San Jose laundry, and this was the cause of the search prompted by the Santa Cruz county authorities.

At the time of the finding of the clothes the blood stains were hardly dry, and it was the fear of the authorities here that some one had met with foul play.

Suit Against City To Decide Issue

Whether a city is required to install barriers or warning signs on streets that end at the water front may be decided in a suit involving the members of the Richmond city council and the City of Richmond, which has been filed by Lacy Moron of Oakland.

City Attorney Thomas M. Carlson has announced that no case of a similar nature has ever been decided by the State Supreme court. Moron is suing for $5,450 damages for injuries he is alleged to have sustained when he drove his machine off the end of South Thirtieth street, August 3, 1927.

As the suit was first filed against the members of the city council, Attorney Thomas M. Carlson filed a demurrer and had the complaint include the city as a municipal corporation.

By the change made in the complaint, to include the City of Richmond, damages if awarded to Moron, may be drawn from the city funds.

prove San Pablo Avenue the initial plans called for the same scheme of no sidewalks and it was only after the protest and announcement of the inadequacy of the improvement that the proceedings were begun anew and sidewalks were included.

"I have charged the council and engineer at their public meetings with being mainly concerned in providing jobs for street contractors and bonds against property for the cost."

"The conduct of the members of the Council and the Engineer is odd compared with other City governing bodies. Some months ago street work in the hill section, to cost close to $300,000, the Engineer and Council members would appear at meeting wearing flowers and a vase of flowers would decorate the Council table. Their appearance would be welcomed by titlers and gingers of approval of their admirers and sympathizers in the audience. I for one was at a loss to understand such conduct but one day noticed the windows of the second story of an office building in San Francisco banked with flowers and was reminded of the Council chamber display. Upon looking closely I saw in large gold letters on each beflowered window—MUNICIPAL BONDS. Have flowers become the ornament of the board houses?"

"In view of the offer of the sum of $975.00 to one of the Trustees by one who we have reason to believe is the same person who was much in conference and association with city officials at times during the last two years we property owners and citizens have cause for grave concern; especially when one of the City Trustees at the last meeting frankly stated that he would accept all the presents offered him and pay off his mortgage and on one of the others protested at the expression of such sentiments by one of their number; however, I promptly voiced my objections to such a disposition.

Very truly,
W. F. HUBER."
